

FREE Bus Travel for Sussex Police Officers, Special Constables and PCSOs

Police Officers and Special Constables can travel free of charge with the following bus and coach companies:-

- Brighton & Hove Bus Company - unlimited travel free of charge on all of their buses
- Stagecoach - unlimited travel free of charge in Sussex, Surrey, Kent and Hampshire
- Compass Travel - unlimited travel free of charge on all of their buses (West Sussex)
- SussexBus - unlimited travel free of charge in Sussex
- Metrobus - unlimited travel free of charge outside London (Crawley)

Free travel will also be extended to PCSOs when on duty and in uniform - across Sussex only.

In order to qualify for free travel you must produce a valid warrant /identity card.

Showing your warrant/identity card will signify to the bus company that you are willing to assist in any situation needing police assistance. For this reason, officers restricted to non-confrontational duties by Occupational Health cannot take part in these schemes.

* Important ****

It is important that you exercise discretion as to when you use this concession. If, for example, you are off duty and have recently consumed alcohol or if you have young children in your care, you should pay the fare if your ability to assist staff is likely to be compromised.

TRAIN TRAVEL

Unfortunately, not available in Sussex. to date we have been unable to secure any similar concessions for train travel. The only free rail travel is for BTP, City of London and Mets.
